Steve,
Had a lot of fun this year in 1st, 3RD, 4th & 5th periods. We always had some good times when we had classes together. Be good and have fun this summer.
Best Wishes ⇒ Pack

Steve,
If you learned to play bass, sing, talk, play basketball, and stopped borrowing mulla, mooching rides, fouling and using awful language, you would be an O.K. brother, but until then don't change to much and you'll be tolerable.

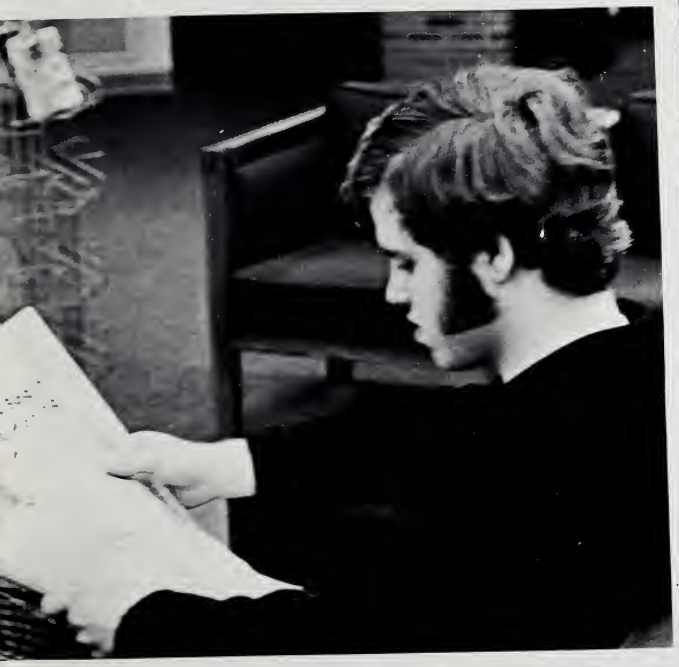
Ours is a time . . .



Change was the only certain thing. Throughout the world, where countries balanced precariously on the edge of peace, and in our nation, where questions about our government were everywhere, we observed the uncertainties. In Logansport, a typically conservative Midwestern town, we read of national and international situations with raised eyebrows and wrinkled foreheads as we dealt with the major changes of our community.

. . . of changes

A. Summer begins with the move from the old LHS to the new. B. Berry Bowl II receives its formal dedication on January 12, 1974. C. Third-period chemistry class rejoices at the news of an early dismissal because of snow.

Ours is a time of changes. In May of 1973, we uprooted our traditions and our high school and transplanted them into a fresh, clean structure. At first, the new building seemed stark; the colorful walls, bare. We adapted well, though; and soon the naked walls began to look familiar as we carved out our niches at the new LHS.

Ours is a time of changes. People, places, and ideas flowed past us in a steady blur of colors. We laughed and cried with intensity, but soon new emotions replaced the old. Looking forward to events that turned quickly into memories, we were not aware of the speed at which we lived.

Summer is work and play

Twelve years of schooling and an era ended in one ceremony. On May 29, 1973, three hundred thirty-one seniors made their mark as the last graduating class from the old Logansport High School.

June was the month for workshops ranging from cheerleading to journalism. The junior class sent six members of Tattler Staff to Ball State University and Quincy College. During these sessions, layout design and copy writing were discussed.

A series of lectures comprised the backbone of the Student Leadership Institute at I.U. attended by Elaine Ide, Cristine Matheu, and Craig Shanteau. Goals of the institute were better communications within the school and a more efficient Student Council.

Three months of summer vacation rolled by quickly. By August 28, 1973, the move from 1301 East Broadway to 1 Berry Lane was complete.

Freshmen blend in

Even though rivalry among Columbia, Fairview, Lincoln, and parochial kids was high, the spirit of the Berries came through.

As a class, the freshmen were able to participate in more high school activities than they did while attending the junior highs. For the first time they were backing the Berries by going to away games. Freshmen also tried out for plays and assisted with stage crew work.

The freshmen year was a series of adjustments to new surroundings: crowded halls, swimming in freezing water, taking good notes, and learning to work with others.

Achievement brings honors

Outstanding achievement did not go without reward. Key Club, the Legion, the Elks, and Tri Kappa sponsored six LHS students at Boys' and Girls' State during the summer. Both week-long conventions were aimed at teaching the fundamentals of Indiana state government and enabling the delegates to experience government in action.

Women's Lib triumphed when more girls than boys were selected as Student Rotarians. On Monday afternoons each month, two of these students met and lunched with Rotary Club.

MVP awards made the long hours of practicing and training worth while. Willey Bell, 1973's Mr. Football, was honored by Hi-Tri at the annual dance.

Shortages make news

The energy crisis made a marked impact in 1974. A severe gasoline shortage crippled the automotive industry; manufacturers laid off workers and began producing more economy cars. Federal regulations lowered speed limits on highways to fifty-five miles per hour, and the American people were asked to stop Sunday driving in an effort to alleviate the shortage. President Nixon asked Americans to dial down thermostats to sixty-eight degrees.

To conserve valuable paper, publishing companies curbed the volume of newspapers and magazines. Beef prices soared. Because of high prices, shoppers refused to buy meat and substituted soybeans.

The world became aware of the shake-up in American government. Vice-president Agnew resigned. Several of President Nixon's aides were indicted for the bugging of Democratic headquarters. The press questioned President Nixon's involvement in the Watergate scandal. People who believed Nixon had a part in the Watergate bugging introduced impeachment proceedings in Congress.

The crusades of the Women's Liberation Movement finally reached Congress although the Equal Rights Amendment was not ratified by all the states.

We fit into the community

Different fads made the year unique. For boys, platform shoes, argyle socks, and cuffed pants were the current styles. Girls added more pants to their wardrobes, and no one was without a pair of jeans.

Though the comment "There's nothing to do in Logansport" was often heard, students were found in activities all over the community. During summer, kids basked in the sun at France Park and maybe stopped at the Custard afterwards. Others worked long hours to earn spending money or college money.

School-time activities included watching or participating in athletic events, attending after-game dances, or hanging out at Eastgate or Bowlmor.

Student Council purchases gifts for school

Every other Tuesday during a special float period, Craig Shanteau called the 57-member body of Student Council to order. Because much of the project work of Council was carried out in committee, the meetings usually consisted of reports and assignments.

Winter Fantasy was Council's big money-making project. "Annie Get Your Gun" was chosen in September, and committee chairmen were appointed to get the production ready for opening night, November 15.

The citizenship plaque, the bronze school seal, and Christmas decorations were among the many gifts that Student Council helped to buy for the school. They also consulted an interior decorator regarding the decoration of the hexagonal display cases in the library.

To help generate school spirit, cheerleaders Cynde Wedekind and Lori Binder were appointed heads of the LHS Spirit Committee. Some of their activities included organizing the Homecoming bonfire and Spirit Week, painting signs, and planning color days.

In the spring of 1973, eighteen students were inducted into National Honor Society at the old high school. The new building was the scene of the fall induction, where thirty-seven seniors became members of the Logansport chapter.

SPIRIT WEEK: Student Council sponsored activities to promote Homecoming: Class Day, Team Day, and Color Day.

PRE-GAME: On Friday, October 19, 1973, young and old jammed the LHS stadium.

FIRST HALF: In the first quarter of the Berries vs New Castle game, Robb Sweet ran for two touchdowns. Doug James scored on a 58-yard punt return. Tom Stayer intercepted a pass and ran 53 yards for another score. Berries, 36 — New Castle, 0.

HALF TIME: The traditional ceremonies were emceed by Ray Brewer, and Vicki Farrer reigned with her court: Sue Hopkins, Jessica Maloy, Renee Ripple, and Beth Ann Rozzi.

SECOND HALF: Kent Long threw to Craig Shanteau for one touchdown; Scott Dunderman passed to Rob Carney for another. The final score read Berries, 48 — New Castle, 0.

AFTER GAME: Willey Bell was named Mr. Football.

As fans, we were proud of our new Berry Bowl and swimming pool. Winning teams and boy cheerleaders sparked our spirit. Sports themselves, though, remained unchanged for athletes. Sweaty palms and jittery nerves lengthened the moments before each contest.

"We want a victory!"

A big addition to the cheerleading squad this year was six guy cheerleaders, whose enthusiasm boosted school spirit. Past experience, long practice sessions, and summer camp aided the girl yell leaders in achieving new heights in their routines.

Pep Club, formerly Cheerblock, acquired a new format. Four representatives from each class decided on programs, painted signs, and arranged practices with the cheerleaders.

L-Club donned their traditional sweaters and jackets and contributed their strong voices in backing the Berries.

Six gain N.C.C. honors

A 21-2 season earned the baseball squad the 1973 N.C.C. championship and Coach Turner's praise as "one of the best teams I ever had."

Mike Dimmel was the outstanding player of the varsity team. Many honors came his way: the MVP award, a position on the high school All-American team, the All-Conference MVP award, and a substantial bonus from the Los Angeles Dodgers. Bob Simons was drafted by the San Francisco Giants but declined the offer.

Six players were named to the All-Conference team: Dimmel, Simons, Dave Snyder, Jeff Baker, Tom Stayer, and Gaylord Brown.

The 1973 J.V. baseball team, coached by Richard Wild, had a perfect 11-0 season, making the record 26 consecutive wins. The last J.V. loss occurred in May of 1971.

Leading batters were Mike Atwell with a .406 average, Tim Smith with a .400, and John Maloy with a.393.

Runners set four records

Coach Kinder termed the cinder squad's 9-0 record in dual and triangular meets "a big thrill." A County Meet championship with a record 114-point total and four new school records excited stadium goers.

At the sectional, veteran Fred Vester swept the long jump and the 100-and 220-yard dashes and rewrote the sectional's oldest record by sprinting the 100 in 9.8. Vester, track's MVP, qualified for all three events at the state, ending with fourth place in the long jump. After an N.C.C. title in the high hurdles, Steve Netser earned the Best Runner award. Mark Swisher was named Best Field Event man. A freshman, Tim Smith, outran most opponents, smashing the LHS mile-run record with a 4:22.9 and the sectional record with a 4:26. Smith, N.C.C. mile champ, climaxed his season by placing thirteenth at the State Meet.

Harriers win fifth title

Hustling to a perfect 9-0 performance in regular meets, the cross country team recorded the fifth unbeated season in the last seven years. To top the season, the squad brought the N.C.C. title back to Logan.

The harriers were paced by a record-breaking sophomore, Tim Smith. Smith was crowned champ of both the N.C.C. and the C.I.C. meets and the sectional and ended eighth at the state, earning for himself the MVP award.

Tennis gets a new coach

Under a new coach, Ray Walter, the netters achieved an 8-4 mark. One victim was the always tough Peru squad.

As a result of challenge matches in practice, top three positions changed hands among Lance Binder and Dudley and Vic Miller. Rounding out the varsity five were Fritz Bowyer and Tim Myers. Senior Dudley Miller's second-place showing in the sectional helped to bring him MVP honors. Binder also moved into the sectional's semifinals before being defeated. As Number 5 man, Myers enjoyed a 10-2 singles record.

Graham wins state

After an unblemished 10-0 season, an N.C.C. first place, and a sectional crown, a "good strong all-around team" captured the second regional wrestling championship in LHS history and a third place in the state, the school's best showing since 1963.

In the N.C.C. Meet, six of the individual champs — Lance Binder, Tom Grandstaff, Brian Hipsher, Scott Miller, Ted Patacsil, and Kim Graham, the meet's MVP — were from Mr. Patacsil's squad. A record four wrestlers — Binder, Graham, Hipsher, and Miller — advanced to the state, where Graham became Logansport's fourth state wrestling champ, Hipsher finished second in his division, and Binder copped a fourth place.

Gridders grow stronger

Supporting Mr. Surface's statement "Our football program is growing stronger each year," the gridders recorded a 5-5 mark and a fourth-place finish in the N.C.C.

Team leader in tackles, Kim Graham was named best defensive lineman; Rob Sabatini was the choice as the best defensive back. Standouts for the offense were Willey Bell, best back, and Pat Tierney, best lineman. Tom Stayer, voted MVP, was a first-team selection on the All-State and the All-Conference teams. Honorable mention All-Staters were Craig Shanteau and Tierney; All-Conference picks included Bell, Rob Minnick, Shanteau, Stayer, and Tierney.

Tankmen win N.C.C. titles

No longer dragging to the "Y" for early morning practices, Logan swimmers greatly appreciated the Olympic-size pool. This year's team was the largest ever, and the group even shared several meets with the girls' swim team.

Under Coach Stephan's direction, the squad broke five school records: Richard Dexter, the individual medley and the 50-, the 100-, and the 500-yard free; Chico Rodriguez, the 100-yard butterfly; and Dexter, Rodriguez, Kevin Kampenga, and Todd Eckert, the 400-yard free relay. Dexter and Kim Heishman each earned N.C.C. titles, and Dexter became the first Berry to place first in sectional competition.

"B" team takes tourney

The Junior Varsity basketball team highlighted their season by taking the Holiday Tourney with wins over Rensselaer, 59-40, and Plymouth, 34-33.

Rick Hollering led the squad in both scoring and rebounding with 139 points and 106 rebounds. Mike Atwell tallied 65 points, and Mike Parkevich grabbed 66 rebounds.

Basketball Berries capture first

"Berries, we're backing you!" resounded with new meaning as the basketball team charged to a 17-8 record including a 4-3 mark which earned the cagers a 3-way tie for second place in the N.C.C. Spirit ran particularly high as the Berries knocked off third-ranked Richmond and fifth-ranked Kokomo.

On March 9, 1974, the Berries captured their first regional since 1967, bringing Logansport's total number of regional victories to twenty-seven, the highest in the state.

Kent Long was the team's high scorer with a total of 340 points after the regional. Close behind were Brad Gundrum with 300, Mark Lozier with 296, and Dan Mullin with 258. Gundrum and Mullin got the most rebounds with 272 and 239 respectively.

Girls vie for sports honors

In accordance with the IHSAA ruling that girls could participate in interschool competition, LHS organized girls' teams and tournaments. For the first time, girls vied for medals, letters, and garment awards the same as the boys. All squads received new warmups and travel uniforms and had the promise of new home uniforms for next year. Members of the teams also worked in the concession stands during football and basketball games.

Eight freshmen, four sophomores, and five juniors composed the 1973 girls' track team. Coached by Miss Jones and Miss Kidd, the squad compiled an excellent record: four wins in five meets and the county championship. Gloria Lehnus, winner of the MVP trophy, became the first girl to advance to a district meet, where she captured a third in the 100-yard dash.

Maloy wins MVP award

Sanctioned under the IHSAA, the girls' volleyball squad became an official LHS team. The "A" team recorded a successful season in a regular 10-game schedule of 9-1. The "B" team had seven wins and two losses. "A" Berries took the sectional title at Rochester, but were defeated in the first game of the Goshen regional. No "B" team tourney was held.

MVP on the squad was Patty Maloy, who received a trophy at the fall sports banquet.

Pool or court attracts girls

Girl swimmers, who faced a full season, proved that they could compete with the tougher teams by finishing with a 7-4-1 record. Their win over Haworth highlighted the year. Team captain Lee Ann Miller roused spirit and set up warmup sprints for the girls. Marcheta Luey set the pace for the divers. All but three school records were broken. At press time the squad was preparing for regional and state competition.

Shifting between Lincoln or Fairview courts and the Berry Bowl, the girl basketball Berries practiced two hours daily. Trainers varied, too. During the holidays the men basketball coaches substituted for Miss Martha Scruggs. The Most Valuable Player award went to Patty Maloy; the award for best mental attitude to Marla Berkshire. Barb Carbaugh won the free-throw trophy.

"George M!" stars seniors

"George M!" is the story of George Michael Cohan and covers sixty years of his hectic life. Born into a vaudeville family, George M made his debut as a hoofer and moved on to musical comedy as actor and song writer. The play features his music, including such favorites as "Yankee Doodle Dandy," "Over There," and "Give My Regards to Broadway."

Dancers tapped their way almost into the audience on a stage which created a double sight line by being extended to encircle the band pit.

Thespians win trophies

International Thespians Society was named for the Greek actor Thespis, the first actor to use language and masks to act out thoughts.

Energetic crews worked on sets and committees helped cast members produce "The Mouse That Roared," which was held February 21 and 23.

In the play, a microscopic country planned to declare war on America as a solution to bankruptcy. When the plan was considered a prank by the State Department, the Dutchess of Grand Fenwick decided to escalate. Her military strategy was to attack, then surrender and gather in the rewards. The plan back-fired when the group of bowmen did the unexpected: they won!

The closing scene for the year was the fourth annual Academy Awards held May 10 at the old auditorium.

Thespis (Oscars) were presented in thirty-five categories. Other awards were the summer workshop scholarships and the Outstanding Actor and Actress citations by the Logansport Civic Players.

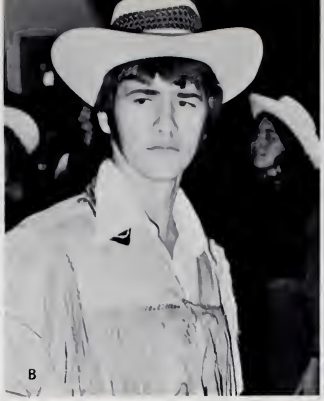
Council presents play



On November 15, 1973, fatigue, lack of technical equipment, and "this old stage" problems were forgotten when the curtains opened on Buffalo Bill's Wild West Show.

Of the 200 who tried out for a part in "Annie get your Gun," only 86 were cast; but over 100 people became involved in producing the play. For them and for the 2500 persons attending one of the performances, "Annie" was another dramatic success for LHS.

Freshmen must speak

While sophomores drilled on the "dos" and "don'ts" of construction and diagramming and juniors discovered American authors, the freshmen were involved in creating speeches to inform, entertain, and convince; reciting poetry; learning their way around a library; and hearing about career opportunities. Every class took time regularly for vocabulary; some classes gave demonstrations and used Scholastic magazines.

English X students concentrated on original writing and did research on major British authors through oral reports and extensive study.

Staffs cope with deadlines

Every other Friday first-year journalism students distributed 1300 copies of the Magpie to the students and teachers of LHS. Despite being handicapped by a shortage of materials, especially paper, the publication sold to the highest percentage of students in five years.

Actual work on the paper was done by the second-year classes. The staff was led by four people: Gary Elvers, first-semester editor; Brenda Louthain, second-semester editor; Bob Steinberger, assistant editor; and Rich Jones, editorial editor.

Tattler staff found producing a yearbook was not an easy task. Hundreds of after-school hours and thousands of in-school miles were only two of the sacrifices made. Despite a room of their own, advisers scheduled for the same periods as their groups, electronic calculators, and a dark room, many staff members wished for escalators or roller skates or both.

Picnic unites clubs

Art Club's window paintings for Homecoming were displayed throughout the community, and Christmas cards made at one meeting were distributed during a party for residents of the County Home.

Adding variety to meetings were acrylic painting by Mrs. Allen and college projects by Mrs. Partridge and Miss Jay. The energy crisis touched Art Club by making plans for their annual field trip uncertain.

Combined, Photography and Art Clubs had a picnic at Spencer Park in October and a late winter banquet at the Ben Hur Restaurant in February. Contests were held by each club, and prizes were awarded at the banquet. For the photo contest, the theme was Nature; for the art, it was Winter Wonderland.

The program at the banquet was a slide show by Mr. Sullivan of "Mountain Safari," the Wandering Wheels bicycle trip from Mexico to Canada in which he participated.

Expansion befriends art

With the revision of the art curriculum, a complete art program was available.

In ceramics much time was devoted to sculpting 3-D clay heads. An electric potter's wheel and additional kilns made pottery-making easier.

Metalcrafts students explored the many artistic uses of metals: metal enameling, sculpture, and jewelry. Plaster and wood also served as materials for creative jewelry.

Handicrafts class taught useful skills that could be applied outside school.

Photography became a full-semester course. Regardless of camera or experience, each student was able to learn more about the art. Darkroom work entailed not only developing and printing but also applying special effects and creating pictures without a camera.

G

Band gets bigger sound

With the addition of freshmen, the band put forth more sound and talent. Solo practice rooms enabled students to make mistakes without embarrassment.

Halftime shows at football games were sparked by marching formations. Majorette Sandie Schoenradt enchanted audiences with her skillful baton twirling. For Berryettes, hats, canes, and tails gave a new dimension to their dances.

Community services comprised a major part of the Stage Band's activities, some of which included performances at Woodlawn Center, Logansport State Hospital, and Veterans' State Hospital at Marion.

Band's year ended with participation in the formal dedication of LHS, the annual Hour of Music, and Commencement.

forty-year-old black threads

Two pianos were needed to provide enough sound for 200 voices, one of the largest LHS choirs ever. Wider, carpeted risers allowed breathing space during programs. Smooth metal chairs saved the hose of sopranos and altos.

"Little Brown Jug" was a favorite of both Swing Choir and their audiences. In addition to customary performances, programs were given for the Schoolmen's Club and the Underground Alert Crew at Grissom Air Force Base.

World affairs cause concern

Expanision was a key word for the social studies department, which finally had adequate space for films, study, and seminars at once.

Current events provided enough material to keep world history classes busy. In government classes, seniors discussed the problems of our federal system. Along with the energy crisis, President Nixon's involvement in the Watergate case was on everyone's mind.

Freshmen went back a few million years to look at the life of prehistoric man. Examining South Africa and Brazil, students realized that racial prejudice in America is not the only discrimination in the world.

Throughout the year expansion of available resources contributed to expansion of the minds of individuals.

Feasts bring pleasure

Freshmen swelled three first-year German classes. Teacher and text were beginners, too. For projects, students wrote reports or translated modern songs into German and then performed them.

German Club sponsored a car wash at Thrift-T-Mart in order to attend a German dinner at Das Gasthaus aus ole' Heidelberg in Lafayette.

Latin Club's major activity was the Roman Banquet held at the "Y". At Christmas time they sponsored a program for the elderly at the County Home, where they decorated Christmas trees with hand-made ornaments and strings of popcorn.

Games spark language club

With larger rooms and new equipment, Spanish classes took on new dimensions. The language lab, located in a separate room, allowed frequent use of tapes and gave more opportunities for listening and practicing.

Spanish Club began the year by using the Spanish language in American games. To demonstrate the effects of American culture on South America, Miss Ewing showed slides she had taken in Argentina.

With an increase in students, Mrs. Reynolds joined the high school faculty as a teacher of both French and Spanish. Combining Mrs. Reynolds' and Mrs. Shilling's first-period classes at times allowed more efficient use of films.

French Club's two major events were a bonfire in October and a carry-in dinner featuring French food in November.

Science looks to the future

The science department's expanded approach was shown in the courses offered: ecology, which dealt with an organism's dependence on its environment; earth science, which gave a reason for studying the environment; and the more familiar biology, physics, physical science, zoology, chemistry, and electronics.

Science Club was also concerned with the surroundings, especially in the "LHS woods." Frequent field trips resulted in a marked increase of interest. "No Hunting" signs were posted, trails were marked, salt blocks were left for the animals, and brush piles were built.

Aside from the environment, lasers, holography, and energy were foremost in the Science Club's discussions.

Computers delight class

Computers and desks equipped with formulas invaded the math department. Both delighted students. A few exasperated teachers, however, exchanged desk tops with neighboring colleagues.

Miss Meyer and Mr. Julian accompanied freshmen to L.H.S.; Miss Hausfeld was new to the school system. New classes were also introduced: computer science and Mathematics for Contemporary Living.

Each Math Club meeting was highlighted by a guest speaker. Topics, covering various math related occupations, ranged from architecture to the composing of music.

P.E. adds new activities

Coed physical education came to LHS. On Fridays girls and boys combined for a recreational period. Activities included swimming, volleyball, basketball, and table tennis.

An Olympic-size pool was one of many improvements. Trampolines and parallel bars challenged even the most agile gymnasts.

The teaching staff changed also. Mrs. Sue Oldham took over girls' classes while Mr. Kinder and Mr. Surface taught the boys.

Health and safety students collected accident clippings and prepared ten-minute oral reports. Class periods were often spent viewing films, and each hour invariably ended with "See you tomorrow . . . I hope."

Class stops without tools

Home management and family relations classes discussed the requirements of pleasant home life and broadened their knowledge of budgeting and shopping through films and lectures.

Sophomores began their sewing experiences with construction of skirts then advanced to dresses and jackets.

Girls in clothing weren't the only ones looking toward the future. Members of Foods I and II prepared foreign dishes while seniors planned their midday meals.

Industrial art classes came to a near standstill because of lack of equipment. In classes where books and desks had arrived, desk work was carried on. In classes where machines had arrived and were in working order, classroom activities resumed. Some areas had no machines, no desks, and no books. These groups spent their time doing other homework.

When the supplies finally arrived, industrial arts again became a part of the school.

Trainees like the work

The Business Department acquired many new items: an offset machine which photographed and copied all types of printed material, black elite and red pica typewriters that flaunted school colors, and new calculators which eliminated the need for waiting in line to finish a problem.

Windows, instead of solid walls, dividing the business classes resulted in occasional distractions among students. Advertising windows set up by sales class students brightened the halls during the school year.

Office Education Association, a federally financed business program, started with improved working conditions this year. Members worked in simulated steno and clerical positions for two periods a day with each member assigned to a teacher or a department. This work helped to provide office experience.

O.E.A. held two successful bake sales during the year. Outside-class activities were a weiner roast in the fall and caroling at the Children's Home.

Career Club finds a home

Some groups learned in school then applied their knowledge in the community.

In Mr. McCauley's words, "Earn while they learn" was practiced by DECA seniors, who attended school for half a day and worked throughout the city the rest of the day.

VICA began the year in a new location, St. Bridget's School, the latest addition to El-Tip-Wa's expanding facilities.

To broaden their knowledge of health occupations, H.C.C. members planned a tour of Memorial Hospital. They also worked with the Gold Teens sponsored by the Mental Health Association.

Through guest speakers such as Dr. Mordenti, Mr. Stuart, and teachers' aides, F.T.A. was able to learn about different teaching fields.

Key Club hosts party

"Footsore" and "exhausted" described Key Clubbers who participated in the 75-hour basketball marathon at Woodlawn Center during Christmas vacation. The $1050 raised was donated to the Mental Health Association. A car wash, held in spite of cold weather and rain, added $40 to the club treasury.

School-oriented activities included compiling student directories and sponsoring Good Government Day.

Group attendance at various churches acquainted members with the different religious services in the community. Attending Kiwanis meetings provided a legitimate excuse for getting out of school four afternoons a month.

The group hosted an Easter party, highlighted by a visit from the Easter bunny, for the students at Woodlawn Center and Fairview West.

NFL earns high ranking

Nervous stomachs accompanied sleepy-eyed speech team members nearly every Saturday on the journeys to nearby schools.

In their advance to fourth position in the Central Indiana division, students participated in solo events, debate tournaments, and student congresses. Three debaters — Bob Perrone, Harold Osborn, and Eric Billman — attended a two-week debate clinic at Manchester College, and Liz Justic went to Miami University in Ohio.

Believing "Practice makes perfect," Berry speakers rehearsed after school; memorized cuttings from books, movies, and plays; wrote speeches; and spent grueling hours doing research and reading magazines.

A new activity was added to NFL: "Berry Beat" was broadcast each night of a varsity basketball game. Guests included outstanding students and members of the faculty.

Librarians corner books

The library was impressive to all who entered. Librarians welcomed such features as a balcony, a magazine room, and display cases, not to mention wall-to-wall carpeting.

With carrels, students were given more privacy to work without interupting peers. Efficiency became the key word of approximately thirty girls belonging to 120 Club. With the larger library and improved facilities, a completely different system was established.

120 Club also made their annual day-long field trip to visit a university library.

Hi-Tri visits heaven

On February 2, Hi-Tri I, II, and III girls and their escorts climbed a "Stairway to Heaven," walked through heavenly gates, and danced among angels, devils, and stars. They dined on heavenly hash, angel food cake, and lemonade.

No longer Y-Teens, freshmen were incorporated into Hi-Tri, becoming Hi-Tri IV.

This year all groups sold Flippers instead of the usual Hershey candy bars. A new way to earn money was a swimming marathon. Each girl's sponsor paid a certain amount of money for every lap the girl swam.

Various speakers highlighted the bi-monthly meetings. Such activities as swimming, basketball playing, roller skating, eating, and maybe sleeping were enjoyed at the overnights.

Ours is a time of changes.
We drifted in and out of each others' lives. We found new friends to recognize in the sea of faces, while some of our old companions became almost strangers whom we passed with a mere "How are you?" These friendships taught us, though, and we grew up a little more.

Faculty likes 1 Berry Lane

In the span of six years, 1967 — 1973, a dream became reality. From proposal stage to blueprints to completion, Mr. Leeman and Mr. Rothgeb eagerly watched the growing LHS.

Besides the return to a four-year senior high school, the Logansport Community School Corporation experienced a change in the central office: Dr. Charles Dilg assumed the new position of assistant superintendent for curriculum and instruction.

A. Taking a break from his curriculum, personnel, and public relations responsibilities, Mr. Leeman renews his energy with a sweet treat. B. School Board members: Mrs. Carl Johnson, secretary; Mrs. Joseph Herd; Dr. Ted Hughes, superintendent of schools; Mr. Ward Watts, president; Mr. J.T. Hillis, school attorney; Mr. Daniel Layman, vice-president; Mr. Jerry Gibson. C. Mr. Rothgeb, who oversees the daily operation of LHS, tackles the intercom system.

"We believe that the teaching and the administrative personnel are effective when they most nearly achieve this objective — that our school exists solely to provide TODAY the education, guidance, and personal development our youth need for TOMORROW."

The 1973-1974 school year at Logansport High School brought many changes for students and teachers alike. New rooms, new equipment, new athletic facilities, and additions to the curriculum benefited both. However, one thing did not change: the purpose and goal of Logansport High School and of the teaching staff quoted in the opening paragraph. This statement has appeared in the "Teachers Handbook" ever since the book originated. That it remained in the preface of the 1973-1974 publication showed that the traditional aim of quality education had been maintained in the transition from 1301 East Broadway to 1 Berry Lane.

TEACHERS at LHS are well qualified. That fifty-three have already obtained their master's degrees indicates the importance they place on preparation.

Drawing upon the resources of thirty-three colleges throughout the U.S. as well as in a few foreign countries, the staff could be viewed as a melting pot of knowledge.

Two teachers representing foreign colleges are Mr. McCauley, who attended the University of Kunsan in Korea, and Miss Ewing, who attended Wroxton College in England. Miss Shilling, who was born in Paris, France, had one year of teaching experience in the elementary grades near her home city. Jerusalem was the setting for Mr. Stephan's high school education.

Purdue University, attended by thirty-two LHS teachers, is the favorite alma mater. Second and third in popularity are Ball State University and Indiana State University.

TEACHERS do more than just teach. They, too, have outside interests and activities. Like the students of LHS they watch television, read, sew, travel, fish, bicycle, hunt, and plant gardens.

Most teachers prefer the common hobbies, but a few go for the exotic. Both Miss Allen and Mr. Julian take an active interest in flying. Miss Allen also participates in sport parachuting; and Mr. Julian, in coin collecting old math textbooks. When Mr. Kizer is rambling off the road on his motorcycle, Mr. Bower, an auto racing enthusiast, might be zooming around a track and Mr. Lapierre might even be doing some beachcombing or cave exploring. While Mrs. Webster is training her poodles, Mr. Senesac might very well be training himself in the Japanese art of fighting without weapons — karate.

"Columbo" won the "Emmy" at LHS as the favorite television show show among teachers. "Kung Fu," "The Waltons," and "MacMillan and Wife" made it to the nomination floor. One of Mr. Siefert's nominees was "Sesame Street."

Teachers' philosophies vary, too. Among the light-hearted are Mrs. Foltz's Love your enemy; it'll drive him crazy," and Mrs. Johnson's "If you can't convince 'em, confuse 'em!"

On the serious side is Mrs. King's "Keep your face turned toward the sun and the shadows will fall behind you." Mrs. Reynolds' philosophy comes from Proverbs: "Trust in the Lord with all your heart and lean not on your own understanding." Mrs. Siefert's teaching philosophy is "School is a physical educational ground for the mind. The purpose of education is to develop the ability to think and reason — not stuff the memory."

Staff grows with building

Each of the eleven office and service personnel staff of Logansport High School contributed in her own way to the atmosphere of the school. Newcomers were Mrs. Seegar, who served as secretary for both Mr. Siefert and Mrs. Billman, and teacher aides Mrs. Wilson and Mrs. Price. Miss Harmon was ending her career of forty-two years as secretary in county and city school offices.

Others, too, kept the school running smoothly: nine custodians and two matrons and twenty-four cooks. The latter, supervised by Mrs. Marshall, prepared 2400 meals each day for the high school and the satellite program.

A. LHS secretaries take lessons in operating the intercom: Miss Harmon, Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. Seeger, Mrs. Moss, Mrs. Grant, and Mrs. Ripple. B. Mrs. Smith, study hall supervisor, Miss Duncan, registrar, and Mrs. Wilson, aide to Mr. Hollon, relax with a cup of coffee in the teachers' lounge. C. Mrs. Price duplicates materials for PVE teachers. D. Selling tablets is one of Mrs. Myers' many tasks.

Class of '74

Sophomore confusion gave way to junior assurance. Finally we were the seniors, the Class of '74. Throughout the year we were involved in a flurry of activities: we listened to Cheech and Chong, saw "Poseidon Adventure" instead of studying for a Weaver test, went to games, joined more clubs, chose the right college, checked second-semester schedules, attended the junior-senior prom, and ordered graduation announcements.

Class of 1975

Cheated of the chance to "lord it over" underclass newcomers, juniors too got acquainted with L.H.S.

Social events such as the Hi-Tri formal and the Prom highlighted the juniors' year, as did academic events like the PSAT and the SAT.

Outstanding juniors brought home ribbons and trophies from N.F.L. meets, won MVP awards, vied for Winter Fantasy leads, and attended the Homecoming Queen.

A. Leading the juniors through the year were Vicki Foster, Susie Horning, Mike Summers, and Cindy Robbins. B. Deb Kinder mourns a broken yo-yo, borrowed from a friend.

Juniors look toward prom

The spirit of the juniors was questioned during a sluggish magazine sale until the final day, when $3525.46 brought the total sales to a respectable $13,677.57.

After Christmas the class turned to the Prom. Those juniors who applied to plan the big event were assigned to committees by class officers and general chairmen. Though work on the Prom was sometimes a hassle, volunteers found the experience rewarding.

A. Pete and Brian ask how "Old Abe" feels about his new surroundings. B. To promote spirit, Brian and Don carry a Trojan coffin to the Homecoming bonfire.

Class of 1976

Tenth graders, coming to L.H.S. from the junior high schools, soon became a part of the school's overall spirit by participating in and supporting Berry athletics and clubs.

A. Becky Schneider, Jan Walker, Terri Mittica, and Rod Flohr win sophomore offices. B. During track season, small lockers provide problems for Tim Smith.

Library greets sophs

When they reached the driving age, sophomores saw a long-held dream come true. Through driver education many received insurance discounts and early drivers' permits or licenses.

A. Absence of rest room doors attracts a lot of attention to Susan and Sandy.
B. While trying to watch the road, a new driver misses the one-way sign.

Class of 1977

Now enrolled in senior high instead of three separate junior highs, ninth graders had earlier chances to join extracurricular activities and to become aware of high school ways.

A. Planning the freshman year were Sheri Buchanan, Tom Steinberger, Amy Bowyer, and Rick King. B. Cricket wonders why she had to come to school.

Freshmen get acquainted

Freshman were required to take one semester of developmental reading. In this course they were taught reading skills applicable to other high school assignments and projects.

A. Outlines for "What's inside me" projects in Mrs. Siefert's class take shape.
B. Snacks tantalize Ray and Lynne.

Ours is a time of changes.
As consumers, we experienced a beef shortage and an energy crisis. Gasoline prices soared as filling stations closed on Sundays. Our new school was cold on the inside. We endured, though. we earned; we spent; and LHS began to fit snugly into the community.

Steve,
Best of luck in all you do. I've enjoyed having you.

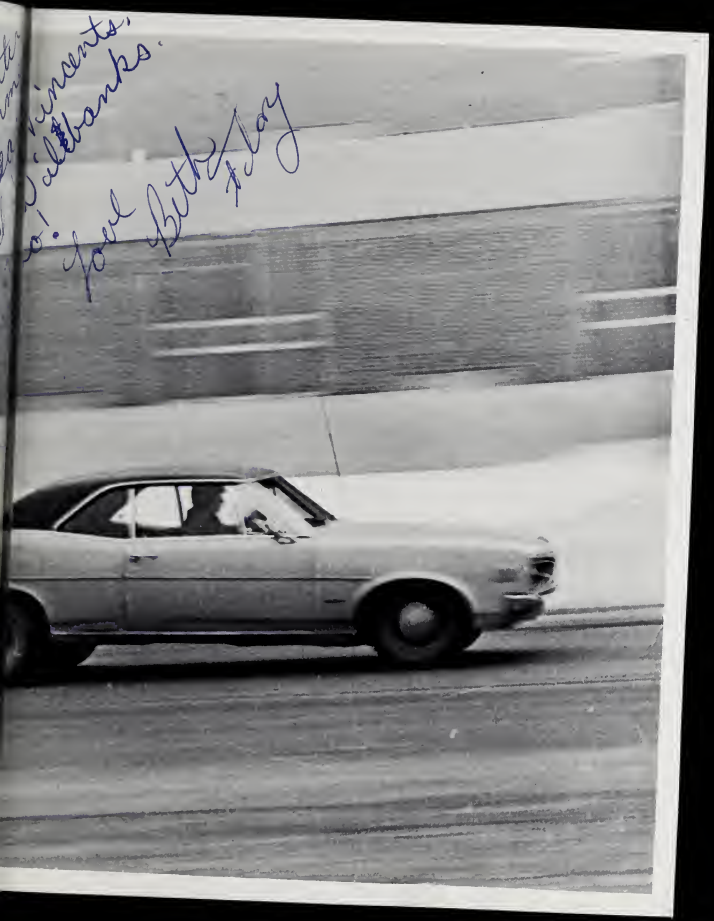
Tattler staff would like to express thanks for additional photographs supplied by Mr. Robert Julian, Mr. Joe Chilcott, Burgman Studio, Harrington Studio, Voorhees Studio, and the Phatos-Tribune and Press. The 1974 Tattler was advised by Mrs. Phyllis Johnson, business; Mrs. Opal Lehnus, art; Miss Esther Winn, editorial, and Mr. Dale Sullivan, photography.

The thirteen hundred copies of the standard 8½ x 11-inch annual were printed in Optima type on 080# Glossy paper by the American Yearbook Company in Clarksville, Tennessee.

We keep up with the pace of change



As we traveled through the year, our new surroundings became familiar; dramatic headlines, commonplace. Rushing to keep up with the pace of our lives, we paused only once in a while to look back on all that we had done.

We lived from one instant to the next despite and because of changes. We accomplished thousands of things in 1973 and 1974.
Ours was a time of changes.

Stevie
I thought you knew me, Oh well I guess
I don't have anything to say then except
I hope your poor oops scroungy thumb gets better by the time we play again.
I hope you find the page or I hope she finds you.

For a kid with
'O' energy level you have a warm personality.
I will see you this summer and next year. Best of luck in the future.
Friends always,
Pam Fredel

Steve,
To a real good "guy".
We've been friends since Lincoln, remember Garrison's class? We've sure had fun.
Time goes fast, hope to see you next year.
Mike Summers

Steve,
You're a Nut! To a real nice & sweet guy that I got to know this year Good Luck in everything & all that good stuff. Have a good

Love,

Jill

Steve,
you got to be a Brat still cause you got the name Steve also (HA HA!) Be cool cause were Big Bad Seniors Now!
(class of 75 Reigns)

Steve (Whale) Whaley

Steve-
you're really a great guy. Remember gym class? It was really kinda fun. I wish I could have gotten to know you sooner. Have fun this summer & I'll see you around.

Love
Steph

Steve,

To a real sweet guy. Glad I got to know you. See ya at the dances, whenever you have one

Susie "77"

Steve, people get kidded a lot but that isn't really how they feel. I've known you for a while and we have been good friends. I hope I will remain that way I'll probably see you this summer.

Good Luck
Jim Morris

Steve,
To a really nice guy.
Remember all the boring times in Journalism. Congradulations you made it, I didn't, oh well. Stay out of trouble or have fun this summer. It's impossible to do both. Good luck with your band.
Lee Ann "75"
P.S. Doesn't it feel great to be a Senior!!!

To Steve,
Live your life full. Reach out for the things you want in life and stride to complete your goals. Hope you make Editor for the Magpie. Another year comes to and end and for me it's just time in a bottle for me to remember. Catch Y a later
Love Joanne

Steve,
I hope you've had as much fun as I have had see ya this summer. Take it easy.
Fred Harmon

Steve,
your the only Rock-n-Roll star I can say I know! to all the fun in History third period we've had this year.
"good luck always"
Jn. Harry

Steve —
~~If they had a German class I could probably pay. I'd see you there. But I looks like I'll have to pay you in Calculus. Good luck this summer. Fabian and all that Quell Chaussee~~

Steve,
Even though we also are such groupie rivals we still were friends. I'll probably see you walking around this summer, so if I don't pick you up - I'll at least look "Good luck with your group and" keep on practicin"
Mike Thomas

STEVE,

You are a really cool guy. You've got a neat band too. Keep playin that bass guitar and stay cool. Don't make yourself too scarce this summer, I might want to look you guys up to play for a party or somethin'. Be good. Try to stay out of trouble.

Love ya,

Judy

Steve,
try and forget
German 6th, OK?
Next year will be big bad Seniors so take it easy this summer.
Eric

Steve,

I'm lost for words but that's not unusual. It hard to tell you just how much I had in German with Eric, John, Denise and Matt. I guess it's just hard to talk to an "illiterate". I just hope you find the right Paige in every book you read. Good Luck

Ted Pitman

STEVE, I really miss the fun times we have had in the years in Grade School (sometime ago). I'm gonna get that piano some day and we'll have the biggest jam session ever. Hope you make editor next year on Magpie. I'll be playing basketball this summer. you better be down there. Good Luck

Steve,
I'm glad I got to know you this year. We've had lots of fun in home room. Even though I'm not very lucky. HA! Good Luck In what ever you do! 75'
Love
Linda

Steve -
Boy, has it ever been fun in journalism! Really! I enjoyed it! I can't wait to be on the Magpie staff! I probably won't be on it, but I know you will be close to the top, if not the top-man! I hope so! I hope we both are on it, it will be fun!
Well, be good and stay out of trouble!
Take Care - Susie Chell

"MITCH",
I DON'T REALLY KNOW YOU TO WELL BUT I GUESS WE ALL HAD A GOOD TIME IN JACK'S CLASS. BEST OF LUCK NEXT YEAR AND EVERY YEAR, STAY OUT OF TROUBLE AND GET YOUR HAIR CUT!
